

Penelope McDowell

Why are you a part of our I Give $25 campaign? I am a part of I Give $25 because I believe in the mission of the Church Health Center and wanted to add my support. I've given of my time and energy to help with various Church Health Center events, but I wanted to go an extra step.

What do you think about I Give $25 so far? I think it's a campaign that asks very little of its participants but always makes them feel valued. I know that my $25 is automatically deducted each month, so I don't have to worry about sending a check, and I'm always kept in the loop through the e-newsletter.

What does it mean to you to be able to support the mission of the Church Health Center in this way? I'm not in any position to make a large contribution to any organization, no matter how much I believe in its cause. I know that the I Give $25 program is a small way I can make a big difference. It's awesome to know that my donation can help treat a sick child whose hardworking parents just can't afford the medication.

Would you tell your friends or loved ones about this campaign? I think any of my friends on Facebook would tell you that I already sing the campaign's praises on a regular basis!

What's your favorite part about the I Give $25 campaign? It's so simple, but it helps so much.

Do you think it's important for younger people to give to the Church Health Center? Of course. It impacts so many people across the community, and undoubtedly, everyone knows someone who is a patient, volunteer or employee. It's sort of like that game-Six Degrees of Kevin Bacon.

Was it hard for you to find $25 in your budget to join I Give $25? I thought about what it would cost to go out on a Friday night in Downtown Memphis. By the time you have dinner and drinks, you're already spending more. If I were willing to pay more than $25 for one night, I could definitely part with $25 once a month.